

Resident Recruitment Program

For 4th year medical students underrepresented in medicine

The University of Massachusetts Medical School's (UMMS) Resident Recruitment Program was established to enhance the diversity of our residents and residency programs in order to better serve Worcester County's growing Multi-cultural population.

UMMS offers a four-week subsidized elective to 4th year medical students underrepresented in medicine from LCME accredited medical schools. This is a wonderful opportunity for students who are considering a residency at UMass Memorial Health Care. Students will gain a better perspective on the diverse patient population in Central Massachusetts.

UMass works closely with the community to help accommodate the diverse population in Central Massachusetts.

The Program offers Students the best chance to see first hand the 53 Residency Programs offered with UMass Memorial Health Care.

The Program is offered from July 1st through December 31st.

The Program offers a stipend to qualified candidates, to help subsidize travel and living expenses during the elective.
