$12,000 stipend available for qualified applicants

The Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental & Related Disabilities (LEND) Program at the Eunice Kennedy Shriver Center in Waltham, MA is a 9-month leadership program in the field of developmental disabilities that prepares professionals, persons with disabilities, and family members to influence policy and clinical practice on behalf of children with developmental disabilities and their families.

- ❖ Fellowship stipends are available to qualified applicants who possess leadership potential and have degrees in the following disciplines:

Audiology, Genetics, Health Administration, Nursing, Nutrition, Occupational Therapy, Pediatrics, Pediatric Dentistry, Physical Therapy, Psychology, Public Health, Social Work, Special Education, and Speech-Language Pathology

- ❖ Fellowship stipends are also available for qualified individuals with disabilities or family members of people with disabilities who are interested in pursuing careers focusing on disability policy or systems change.
- ❖ Applicants should have experience working with children and youth with developmental disabilities or chronic illness and should have demonstrated leadership potential.
- ❖ Qualified applicants may have their LEND coursework credited towards a Master in Health Administration (MHA) or Public Administration (MPA) from Suffolk University at reduced tuition.
- ❖ The LEND program involves a minimum commitment of 1-½ days per week (Thursday afternoons and Fridays) on-site over a 9-month period.
