

Programs/Projects

Commonwealth Medicine Associates Program

The Commonwealth Medicine Associates Program, developed in collaboration with Human Resources, gave recent college graduates the opportunity to develop critical skills, knowledge, and experience while working within a professional environment. The 1-year program provided participants with the foundation to a health care and public service occupation, and exposure to different roles and career paths.

"The program gives you exposure to so much more than typical entry level employment. It gives you the opportunity to learn and excel in a public service career."

— Christine Roa, Project Coordinator

"Being part of a major nonprofit organization has been far more valuable than any previous efforts to understand more about public health research and careers."

— Amanda DiPaolo, Research Associate

Leadership Development Program

The Leadership Development Program gave employees the chance to enhance their knowledge and learn critical skills. Developed and provided through a collaboration with Clark University, participants could earn credits towards a bachelor's or master's degree in Public Administration. The Cultural Diversity Committee helped create the program, and reviewed candidate applications.
