

Pediatric Specialty Clinics

In addition to our inpatient hospital beds, critical care unit and emergency room that specialize in providing excellent care to infants, children and adolescents, UMass Memorial Children's Medical Center has more than 150 medical and surgical specialists who are not only trained in their specialty but also have expertise in caring for infants, children and adolescents. This includes health care for children with cancer, kidney problems, heart disease, diabetes, and many other routine and complex medical issues, as well as those who need surgery and anesthesiology. Depending on the specialty, patients may be seen in Worcester at the Benedict Building, the Ambulatory Care Center or on the Hahnemann campus or in the Northborough Primary Care facility.
