Session A.12 - Youth and Young Adults: A Key to Building a Movement

Tania Duperoy, BA
Hayden Myer, QMHP, CPRS

From the NAMI National Young Adult Advisory Group
Workshop Description

The language we use matters in involving youth and young adults in our movement. Just how important is social media, smart phones and slick resources to a younger generation? Will they still come if you don't have it? Are there generational divides and how do we overcome those? Learn about messages that motivate youth and young adults to action.

Lessons Learned from a National TA Center, Transitions RTC
What is the Transitions RRTC?

National Center that aims to:

- Improve supports for the successful completion of schooling and movement into rewarding work lives among young people, ages 14-30, with serious mental health conditions (SMHC)

How?

1. Conduct cutting-edge rigorous research that tests or informs interventions
2. Develop and translate knowledge to multiple stakeholders
3. Infuse Participatory Action Research (PAR) into all activities
PAR at the Transitions RRTC

Active involvement of young adult staff with serious mental health conditions (SMHC) in all phases of research and knowledge translation from defining the problem to disseminating results.
The Young Adult College Study

The Academic Experiences and Perspectives of Young Adult College Students with Mental Health Conditions

- Secondary Analysis of Data from the “National Survey of College Students With Mental Illnesses”
  - survey by Mark Salzer, PhD.

- Created the research questions
- Analyzed data using SPSS Statistical software
- Interpreted Findings
- Developed publications

THE PAR FRAMEWORK
Genuine Involvement vs Tokenism

• Having youth just to say you have youth
• Having one youth give feedback everything youth-related
  • One young person doesn't represent the voices of all young people
• All youth members should be approached equally for opinions and decisions

Not willing to make changes: “[...] When a group knows what they want to do, and they just want to check a box that says youth engagement so they try and convince youth of their ideas rather than listening.”
PAR at the RTC: Trial and Error

Breaking New Ground (Yrs 1-3)
- 5 Per-diem YA positions
- Generalized job description
- Separate YA meetings
- Supervisor = main support
- Only Internal Youth Voice

Steering towards Success (Yrs 3-now)
- PAR staff on career trajectories
- Strengths based job descriptions
- Culture Shift
- Career Coach
- National Youth Voice
Continuum of Youth Involvement

Ad Hoc Input
Environment where young people can contribute ideas/information about their needs

Structured Consultation
Deliberately develop a strategy to seek young people’s opinions about what they need, what problems they face or what strategies to employ

Influence
Formal structured input in order to ensure at least a minimal influence on the organization

Delegation
Real responsibility for undertaking particular tasks of the organization

Negotiation
Young people and rest of organization each contribute their ideas, information and perspectives and decisions are reached by compromise

Control
Young people make many or all of crucial decisions within the organization, from policy, programming, financial management, hiring and firing of staff

Lessons Learned from a NAMI State Affiliate, NAMI VA
What are we talking about here?

1. Creating and sustaining youth-adult partnerships (Y-APs)
   - Y-AP is the central aspect of youth engagement
   - The use of “partnerships” reminds us that the engagement AND voice of both youth and adults are critical
   - Are there legitimate opportunities within your organization to work collectively – REGARDLESS OF AGE – while brining unique talents and perspectives to the table?
   - Remember, change occurs when there is an active discussion about how research and theoretical concepts relates (or do NOT relate) to one’s experience.

2. Positive youth, organizational, and communal development
What are the ingredients for quality Y-AP?

1) Youth need choice and options
   - Different skillsets and interests

2) Establish clear roles and expectations
   - Helps with increased functionality because everyone knows what he/she is expected to accomplish.
   - Clarity, structure, and boundaries should be discussed

3) Time and preparation for QUALITY Y-AP
   - Get to know one another, brainstorm, work together, share experiences

4) Encourage Collective Mentoring
   - “Shared teaching and learning”

5) Carefully select where Y-AP is most needed
Where should Y-AP take place?

- Governance and Policymaking
  - If an organization serves young people, then the young people should have key roles of organizational decision-making.
  - Do not just listen to youths, but HEAR them, and allow their input to be heard

- Training and Outreach
  - At the very least, adults benefit from hearing the youth perspective.
  - Hopefully this ignites sparks of hope!

- Organizing and Activism

- Communication and Media

- Service and Philanthropy
  - Youth of all ages can serve as mentors for younger youth

- Research and Evaluation
  - Research participants AND research assistants/researchers
How can organizations create a “culture” that allows the flourishing of Y-AP?

What would make you want to get involved in NAMI programs as a participant and/or a program leader and stay active?
Tips from the NAMI Young Adult Advisory Board

Creating a Supportive Group

https://www.nami.org/Learn-More/Mental-Health-By-the-Numbers

- Showing young adults in the group they are not alone
  - Have other youth in the room
  - Do icebreakers for group cohesion
  - Allow for them to meet in person if possible
    - Have an annual conference or a big meeting?
- Allowing young adults to have a creative outlet
  - social media pages, websites, videos, etc.
Tips from the NAMI Young Adult Advisory Board

Fostering Leadership

Even if an adult(s) leads the group, it’s important that young adults...

- Have a voice
- Youth voice causes action

There should be clear opportunities for the youth to get involved

- Have certain roles, tasks, or projects for young adults
- Have end-products or projects
- Have learning opportunities and activities that benefit others or at least benefit the young adults’ own futures
Tips from the NAMI Young Adult Advisory Board

Support from Above

- Senior staff/adults on the team show their support and that they are partners on projects
- Senior staff/adults understand the value of youth voice and the participation of youth in planning and implementation
